The screenshot displays the IPEIA website interface. At the top is the IPEIA logo and a navigation bar with links: HOME, REGISTRATION, APART WEB TOOL, PROFILE, and ADMINISTRATION. The main content area features a 'Next Up!' section for 'IPEIA Technical Presentations' on May 18, 2023, from 10:00AM to 11:30AM (MT). A button prompts users to 'Click Here to Sign Up for this Webinar'. Below this, there's a section for 'ASME 2023 Code update' by Trevor Seipp, ASME, followed by a detailed paragraph about the update. Another section titled 'Too Much to Inspect in a Turnaround? How to Convince your Organization to get the Work out of the Event!' by Frank Engli, Becht, includes a paragraph about turnaround challenges. To the right, a sidebar titled 'Webinars and past presentations' offers a 'Download the Presentation Tracking Sheet' and a list of video galleries from 2017 to 2023, plus an 'Archives' link. At the bottom, a 'Webinar Schedule for 2023' table is visible.

Date	Title	Description
January 19, 2023, 9:30AM to 2:00PM (MT)	IPEIA Special Sessions Symposium	Key Valve Takeaways for Pressure Integrity Personnel (4.5 hrs) Valves vent fluids from over-pressurized systems. They protect life, property, manage flow, regulate temperatures, and help us to use energy efficiently. With so many essential functions, it is not surprising that their selection and use require specialized knowledge. IPEIA's January webinar is aimed at helping pressure integrity personnel keep valves running reliably. With this goal in mind, we have arranged for six valve specialists to discuss a variety of relevant topics.
